Main Supplier & Product

Unit Consumption Proportion

■ Midea ■ Acson ■ Daikin ■ Panasonic

The pie chart illustrates the overall proportion of unit consumption based on our key suppliers.

Midea represents the largest share of our total usage, reflecting its strong market demand, consistent product availability, and competitive pricing.

Acson contributes the second-highest portion, supporting a significant segment of our installations.

Daikin accounts for a moderate share, driven by its premium positioning and customer preference in specific applications.

Panasonic represents a smaller portion of our consumption, primarily serving niche or specialized customer requests. This distribution highlights our strategic focus on high-turnover brands while maintaining a balanced supplier mix to meet diverse market needs.

Good service.
Great boss and nice staff.
Get well explanation and understand all details before installation. All costing make it clearer. Staff is good to commucation, after sales service and follow up also keep going on. Even after working hours, boss still will answering call for question. Good to recommend. Satisfy!!!
